BROAD STREET CHURCH OF CHRIST

VOL. XXXVI I NO. 24

From Where I Sit . . .

“A Father’s Influence”

If I asked, “What are commonly the most powerful influences in people's lives?” we could suggest many possibilities. Our suggestions would depend on two things: How we look at life and What we define as powerful influences.

For those who define life in terms of fun and pleasure, their suggestions for powerful influences focus on things they believe produce fun and pleasure. For those who define life in terms of success, their suggestions for powerful influences focus on their symbols of success. For those who define life in terms of security, their suggestions for powerful influences focus on what they believe provides security. For those who define life in terms of relationship, their suggestions for powerful influences focus on influential relationships.

We need to ask a second question: "What SHOULD BE people's most powerful influences in life?"

This is not the same question. Things that are the most powerful influences in a person's life frequently are not the things that should be the most powerful influences in a person's life.

This week we honor Fathers on their special day which we call Father's Day. Too often, this is just the traditional time to fulfill an obligation. It may or may not be a time to express deeply felt love and appreciation. I would like to make an observation: A father should be one of the most powerful, positive influences in each person's life. Unfortunately, in far too many situations a father is one of the most powerful negative influences in many people's lives.

The Bible is extremely realistic in dealing with the lives of people in the Old and New Testaments. Sins and weaknesses were not glossed over but rather described in glaring details. Some even find them offensive though it's far better to learn from God's straightforward revelation how ugly sin really is. We should not be surprised to learn that some of God's most faithful servants are exposed on the home front as manifesting some weakness that warped the lives of their children. Noah, Eli, Samuel, David quickly come to my mind as fathers who were very influential in the Biblical narrative, but who did not hold up as very good role models for their sons on the home front. Noah's drunken behavior and exposure of himself affected a son and generations born to that line of his family (Genesis 6: 20- 27). Eli and Samuel were so dedicated to serving God and His people, but failed with their own sons so that Israel was moved to seek after a secular king like the other nations (1 Samuel 3: 12-14; 8:2-5). King David had a very divided family and suffered many failures with his sons (2 Samuel 12:10).

We fathers need to understand the power of a father's influence. Notice the Apostle Paul's comparison in 1 Thess. 2:11, “As ye know how we exhorted and comforted and charged every one of you, as a father doth his children.” Is it just coincidental that the Holy Spirit guided Paul to use the imagery of fatherhood to convey the relationship he had with the Thessalonians? We know that it's not coincidence, but rather a most fitting depiction of how a good father deals with the children in his home – “Exhorted, Comforted, and Charged” them. May we fathers strive for this kind of description by our children.

Good Samaritan Info

Did you help set up/work at/clean up for VBS? Have you mowed a neighbor's yard (for free)? Have you visited someone in hospital/nursing home/assisted living? Sent a card? If you have or plan to do any of these acts of kindness, let Mrs. Beverly know so that she can keep a record of your Good Samaritan activities.

On June 5th, Linda Nickell came forward asking for the prayers of the church and to be restored back to the Lord for her failure to attend services. We are thankful for her sincerity and so very happy to have her in our fellowship at Broad Street.

Now - Tomorrow

"Tomorrow," he promised his conscience,
 "Tomorrow I mean to believe;
 Tomorrow I'll think as I ought to;
 tomorrow the Savior receive;
 Tomorrow I'll conquer the habits
 that hold me in sin's deadly sway."
 But ever his conscience repeated:
 "Today—today—today!"
 "Tomorrow, tomorrow, tomorrow"—
 thus day after day it went on;
 "Tomorrow, tomorrow, tomorrow"—
 till youth like a vision was gone;
 Till age and his passions had written
 the sentence of woe on his brow;
 And forth from the shadows came Death,
 with the pitiless syllable, "NOW!"
 "What will you do with Jesus?
 The call comes low and clear,
 The solemn words are sounding
 Now in your listening ear.
 Immortal life's in the question,
 And joy through eternity.
 Then what will you do with Jesus?
 Oh, what will your answer be?"

He never looks for praises.
He's never one to boast.
He just goes on quietly working
For those he loves the most.
His dreams are seldom spoken.
His wants are very few,
And most of the time his worries
Will go unspoken, too.
He's there...a firm foundation
Through all our storms of life,
A sturdy hand to hold onto
In times of stress and strife.
A true friend we can turn to
When times are good or bad.
One of our greatest blessings,
The man that we call Dad.
