BROAD STREET CHURCH OF CHRIST

VOL. XXXVII NO. 43

From Where I Sit . . .

“Who Can You Depend On?”

Teddy’s father was a very successful business man, but his successes also meant he often missed Teddy’s ball games and special times. The ones that hurt the worst were the championship game when he was 12 years old and the all-star games. And then there were the awards banquets. His dad promised to be at most of these events, but something always came up. A seat was usually empty beside his mother.

His Father might have meant well, but Teddy didn’t know it. Teddy saw a childhood full of broken promises, forgotten birthdays, disappointments, tears on the pillow at night, and finally hardness and callousness so it wouldn’t hurt any more. The best way to stop hurting over Dad was to quit caring about Dad.

His coach in high school promised him a starting position on the varsity team, but it went to the new kid that moved in over the summer. The neighborhood grocer promised him a pay raise in the spring, but it just never got mentioned again. When Teddy finally asked about it, the grocer denied ever making such a promise.

A way of life was being molded for Teddy, of doubt and distrust. Everywhere he turned, Teddy met the same kinds of disappointments. He couldn’t find anyone whom he thought he could genuinely trust. In time he drew the conclusion that no one’s word is true.

A preacher tried to reach his heart at the revival meeting, but it was too little, too late. Teddy felt that life was a sham of pretense, and no one genuinely cared. Eventually he tried drugs, and then turned to crime to support his habit. That led to the arrest, and a prison term – Even more distrust followed. In total despair, and a feeling of utter hopelessness, Teddy ended it all. He committed suicide – a victim of a world upon which we cannot depend.

Teddy isn’t just one boy, he is a composite picture I painted of young people all over America who in real life face these same disappointments every day. While I was writing this composite story, I remembered that there had been a real Teddy, however. Some events in his life story were different from the ones I’ve described, but it ended much the same way. Theodore Bundy was executed in the state of Florida on January 24, 1989 after molesting and murdering several young ladies at Florida State University in Tallahassee. This followed several years of serial killings throughout Washington, Oregon, Utah, Idaho, Colorado, and Florida

The one thing that all these “Teddys” have in common is a need. There is a common need within all of us for someone, some thing upon which we can depend – a constancy that will always be there for us and will never let us down. This world doesn’t supply that remedy. We’re all too weak and undependable for that big of a task. What a tragedy for us to put so much stock and trade in the behavior of someone else to the extent that it dashes us on the rocks when they break their word. I’ve known of some Christians who have abandoned their faith because some minister, elder, Bible teacher, or just church members let them down—didn’t live up to the highest expectations. Their faith rested more on the individual than on the rock of our salvation.

My friends, there is only one rock upon which you can afford to anchor your life from which you will never have to be afraid of its being too weak to support you. His name is Jesus (John 14:1-11).

Chad's Chatter

What Would You Do For a Klondike Bar?

Have you ever had a klondike bar? If you have, then you probably remember the commercials asking that question in sing song. People are willing to do all sorts of things for something they want in that moment. It is hard to resist something that you REALLY want. People often live their lives wishing for something different than what they have or wishing they had more of the same... bigger house, one more bathroom, more shoes, more storage in our house, the newest PS5 or the newest game for the PS5. You might be wishing for a new truck, a new car, or a new pair of shoes. What would you do for something you really wanted?

The rich fool in Luke 12 had so many crops he didn't have room to store them. So, he was going to tear down his barns and build bigger ones. He had so much stuff that he needed more room to store his stuff. Does this man sound like a typical American, or what? This doesn't mean we need to be poor to be GOD centered people, but I do think the richer we are, the harder it is to be GOD centered. Remember, whatever treasure you have on this earth, similar to a Klondike Bar, will eventually be destroyed or melt away.

Luke 12:19-21 "Soul, you have ample good laid up for many years; relax, eat, drink, be merry." But GOD said to him, 'Fool! This night your soul is required of you, and the things you have prepared, whose will they be?' So is the one who lays treasure for himself and is not rich toward GOD."

Little Things

*The little things
That makes life sweet
are worth their weight in gold,
They can't be bought
At any price
And neither are they sold*

*A little rose
A little kiss
Drives care away
And helps us on
Our journey as we go.*

*The little smiles,
The little songs,
That cheer us up each day,
Are but a part
Of God's great art
To help us on our way.
